

Look Around

For a moment at the great army of business men who pass daily in review on our busiest streets. Can't you invariably select from among them the prosperous and the successful? You may not realize it, but your impression is gleaned from the "get up" of the man. Successful men regard good dressing as of the essence. We cater to the demands of the prosperous element because we have the materials with which to build and the workmen who know how to utilize them. Our clothes cost but little more than ready-to-wear garments.

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 22.—District attorney John S. It is proposed, if possible, to get electric power for the whole group of buildings from the Copper Queen smelter or the Calumet & Arizona smelter. If the rate for power can be made satisfactory and the company can afford to supply it, the county prefers to get the power from one of the big smelters, as it is safer. It is claimed by some that if the county is to put in its own plant it would have to be a "Gouldie" one, owing to the fact that during important operations the small plant might fail and leave the operating room without light at a critical moment.
